STOESSEL SURRENDERS

After Eleven Months' Stand Port Arthur Throws Up The Sponge--Brave Commander Seeks Terms Of Surrender From Japan.

PANORAMIC VIEW OF PORT ARTHUR, SHOWING THE HARBOR ENTRANCE AND NAVAL BASIN

FAMOUS SIEGES OF FORTS AND CITIES

Although Port Arthur is defended with stubborn valor, its garrison is not spurred to desperation by the menace which once hung over every fort which defied an enemy. The supreme motive of self-preservation is lacking from the Russian defence. The soldiers know that, should they lay down their arms, they will be treated with every consideration by the victorious Japanese. In the olden days the defenders, when captured, were put to the sword. They had, therefore, little inducement to surrender, and military history records no more desperate deeds than those done in defence of town or city by the burghers, who fought like rats in a trap, knowing that their choice was between dying with weapon in hand or crouching at the knees of a merciless conqueror. If modern fortresses are not so valiantly defended as of yore, this is the explanation. The defenders have less to lose by capitulation.

THE CRUSADERS AT JERUSALEM.
A famous siege was that of Acre, in the twelfth century, when attacked by the crusaders under Richard the Lion-Hearted. For two years it held out, then surrendered after its defenders had killed 300,000 soldiers, 500 barons, 40 earls, 12 bishops, and six archbishops. Later, it was retaken by the Saracens and the defenders put to the sword. Among the victims were the nuns, who had mutilated their faces, that they might not attract the fierce eyes of their conquerors. In 1840 Acre was captured from the Egyptians by Sir Robert Stafford. The longest siege in history was that of Azotus or Ashdod, invested by Ptolemy, king of Egypt, in 332 B.C. The city was reduced in 19 years in reducing the defences. The legendary siege of Troy occupied 10 years. That of Jerusalem by Titus, 70 A.D., was attended by unparalleled atrocities, when it finally capitulated.

DEFENCE OF BASING HOUSE.
Badajoz held out against the British only three weeks, and in this length of time the defenders of Basing House, numbering 1,000 men, women and children, were so exhausted by starvation and disease that they fell into the hands of the famous Nana Sahib, who murdered all but four of them. Three weeks later Cawnpore was stormed by Havelock, and the death of Nana Sahib's victims was avenged. The defence of that Hampshire residence, Basing House, by the Royalists for nearly two years in the Civil War was a famous exploit, and one which has hardly a parallel in military history. It finally fell on Oct. 14, 1646, as the result of an assault led by Cromwell in person. This incident inspired one of Landseer's most famous pictures, "The Plundering of Basing House." This historic mission, it was thought would have yielded at the first serious onslaught, but it confounded the prophets of the Parliamentary army, and remained to occupy a page of military history on which no other name is found.

BERGEN-OP-ZOOM AND GIBRALTAR.
Different was the case of Bergen-op-Zoom, which was deemed impregnable, but which was twice captured by the French. In 1814 a British force penetrated the defences, but was cut off and destroyed. Gibraltar, the name which is a synonym for strength and safety, has been taken twice—once by the British, who have held it ever since. It has been assaulted half a dozen

NEW YEAR IN EUROPE

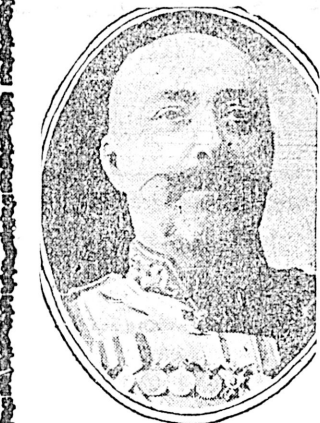

London, Jan. 1.—The New Year was ushered in with a sudden falling temperature throughout Europe, accompanied by gales and blizzards and much damage to life and property. In Switzerland a 20-hour blizzard isolated many Alpine villages and interrupted all preparations for merry-making. Austria suffered from heavy gales and snowstorms. All the continental capitals are sending similar reports, the Baltic coast having especially suffered.

In a special cable from London today the New York Herald has the following: The members of the British royal family, before their Christmas reunion, made a round of visits to country houses of hosts who are numbered in the circle close to personal acquaintances.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra, says the European edition of the Herald, greatly enjoyed their visit to Culford Hall, the Suffolk home of the Earl and Countess Cadogan, near Bury St. Edmunds. Lord Cadogan entertained Their Majesties as he had done Queen Victoria on their visits to Ireland at the vice-regal court at Dublin.

NOGI REPORTS NEWS OF STOESSEL'S SURRENDER

TOKIO, Jan. 2.—Gen. Nogi, the commander of the Japanese forces besieging Port Arthur, reports that he has received a letter from Gen. Stoessel, the Russian military commander, relating to surrender.

LIEUT. GENERAL STOESSEL.

10 a.m.—The following cable has been received from Gen. Nogi: "I have received a letter relating to surrender from Gen. Stoessel, the commander of the Port Arthur garrison Sunday night at 9 o'clock."

GENERAL NOGI.

The news that the Russian forces at Port Arthur have been reduced to such a strait that at last the heroic commander has been forced to propose surrender, follows upon a month of reverses. The siege begun almost with the firing of the first gun in the war, now nearly eleven months ago, and when perhaps the greatest stronghold in the world was garrisoned by 40,000 Russian soldiers, supported with a formidable squadron of modern battleships, cruisers and torpedo boats.

The warships have been destroyed or dispersed, until but a few torpedo boats remain in the harbor. The garrison at the latest accounts has been reduced to about 15,000 men. On Dec. 4, high (203 metre) hill, the commanding position in the series of forts held by the Russians was captured by the Japanese after a severe fight, in which the loss on both sides was enormous. It was from this hill that the death blows were dealt the warships that were then remaining in the harbor, and afterwards the Japanese guns were trained upon the town and forts that were in range.

The report that non-combatants of Port Arthur had been accorded an asylum behind Liaotai mountain may easily have been an indication that the Japanese commander foresaw that the surrender of the Russians within a very brief time was assured.

The Japanese stormed and captured Wantai yesterday (Sunday).

SEEK REFUGE AT CHEFOO.

CHEFOO Jan. 2, 8 a.m.—When the fog which prevailed this morning had slightly lifted, it was seen that two Russian torpedo boat destroyers were in this harbor. Later a clearing of the atmosphere showed a total of four Russian torpedo boat destroyers and one launch in the harbor. A bundle of despatches was sent ashore.

THE LAST HOURS

London, Jan. 2.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at the headquarters of General Nogi before Port Arthur, telegraphs, under date of December 31st, that the non-combatants have been given shelter under Liaotai mountain. The correspondent says that the Russians have promised not to fire from that direction and have requested the Japanese not to bombard the position. The Japanese, it is added, have consented to this proposal.

THEY DIED GAME

Chefoo, Jan. 1.—Pathetic references to the last stand of the last ship of the Russian Asiatic squadron appear in the Port Arthur Novikrai in its issues of December 24th and 25th. Even General Stoessel, the military commander at Port Arthur, who had made little mention of the navy since August 10th, issued an order lauding the Sevastopol and Captain Essen, who for five nights withstood numerous attacks of the Japanese torpedo flotillas, till at last the death note was sounded through the gaping wounds in the sides of the battleship, and Russia's Asiatic fleet was no more.

"Nothing," says the Novikrai, "could exceed the unflinching devotion of the men who nightly calmly went to the roadstead in the face of certain ultimate destruction."

"MOST HEROIC RESISTANCE"

For the first time since the siege began the Novikrai, whose sole aim, seemingly, has been to inspire the garrison of Port Arthur, betrays signs of the pathetic hopelessness of even the most heroic resistance.

Discussing High hill, the Novikrai speaks of "the hill receiving with its breast the hammering of 800-pound shells, which split even the rocks and went through eighteen inches of steel like paper. Who but Providence can save us from these thunderbolts. We do not expect the Baltic fleet; we do not expect relief; but we can fight till death. What Port Arthur goes through it is impossible to describe; but Russia will know what her sons have suffered. It is past human genius to paint or describe Port Arthur's sufferings as they really are."

ESTIMATED STRENGTH OF THE GREAT FORT

The Japan Gazette of August 11th says: From an excellent article in the Journal of the United Service Institution (May 10th) by Col. C. E. de la Poer Beresford, late military attaché II. M. embassy, St. Petersburg, we quote an important section that enables us to realize the defensive position at Port Arthur about seven months before the war: Tactically speaking, Port Arthur is strong and difficult to take. The fortifications, which surmount every hill on the land side, are semi-closed works; but their gorges are protected by masonry, loopholed walls almost as solid and inaccessible as those of Tregantle, Scarsdon or Portsdown hill. These forts, constructed under the eyes of General Vernander, of the Engineers, a worthy successor to Todleben, are on the koponier trace; their koponiers deeply sunk in the ditch are also protected by counter-scarp and escarp galleries. Their guns, which consist of 5.9 in. taken from the Chinese, and 7, 10 and 12 in. breechloaders of Obukoff pattern, are mounted either on barbette or on over-bank fire carriage of the Putiloff pattern. The total number of guns in the fortress is given by the Russians as 400. I counted ten hill forts, four sea batteries of eighteen to six guns each, and estimated the number of guns on Golden Hill as fifty or sixty, drilled amongst six to eight batteries. The four batteries to the south of the harbor entrance strike the practiced eye. No guns are seen, but from the interior of the harbor, above the Tiger tail torpedo boat sheds, they can, and have been, counted and noted and their description forwarded to Tokio. From the sea it is impossible to count, or even to locate, the batteries on Golden Hill. Their profiles are so low and so carefully covered with grass or material of the same color as the surrounding ground that they are invisible; but the guns do not fire through embrasures. Their carriages from a distance look like 10 or 12 Putiloff patterns, which are well known to artillerymen all over the world. Like the works at Kertch and the new batteries at Batoum, they are all placed high above the sea. Thus they command a greater range, and being plunging fire, can hit on ship's decks, and are themselves almost safe from direct, as opposed to high-angle, fire. By the latter alone can they, as a rule, be struck. The protection to gunners and guns in these works is very effective. There is no difficulty from smoke as in works with closed galleries, nor can men serving the pieces be struck by splinters of stone, for the works are earth.

The communications between the batteries, which can be seen from the land side, are safe from search by enfilade, by their traces, the prolongation of which falls either on the site of other works or inaccessible land positions. They are hidden from direct view and fire by Golden Hill on the north side of the harbor entrance, and on the south they are almost invisible from the sea; the communications between all parts of the defences and the town, etc., are excellent macadamized roads safe from fire.

The exact number of projectiles per gun is not known, but as for two and a half years ammunition has been sent both by land and sea to Port Arthur, it is probably as large as that at Kertch, Sevastopol or Batoum. Grains, tinned provisions, wines and spirits have been brought in enormous quantities from Russia, England, Japan, and above all, America and France, to Port Arthur. Bread, meat and vegetables are dearer and scarce in comparison. Vegetables come from Manchuria. Meat used to come daily in Butterfield and Swire's boat from Chefoo. The wells are numerous. The soil is limestone, rainfall in Garrison town the Russians hold all the water issued to troops. The batteries, situated near the Artillery park, north-east of the harbor, are large and well arranged. Immense stores of forage have been accumulated, but the daily consumption is very large. Numbers of horses, mules and donkeys have been brought to the place. Useless mouths have all, or nearly all, disappeared. There can be no doubt that whoever attempts to take Port Arthur will have a difficult task. The garrison now stands probably at about 20,000 men with say 10,000 sailors. And it would be well for our readers to take the testimony of an eye-witness and believe, that, contrary to some report of one press, the quality of these troops is first class. Lately a good many men have been diverted from the fortress on the Yalu river and Liaoyang.

The Port Arthur Garrison

The following is credited in Japan as the authentic estimate of the strength of Port Arthur garrison. It was calculated by the Japanese headquarters staff from a number of reports obtained from the secret service, together with the several despatches recently received from the besieging army.

Seven thousand, belonging to 4th, 5th, 6th and 13th regiments of 4th sharpshooter division.

Eight thousand belonging to 6th, 7th, 8th, 25th regiments of 7th sharpshooter division.

One hundred and fifty, one company of Za Baikal Cossacks, of Wladyevsky regiment.

Six hundred, four companies of Za Baikal Cossack cavalry, of Barkuzinsky regiment.

Nine thousand six hundred, one brigade of artillery, with 256 field guns.

Nine hundred, three companies of East Siberian artillery brigade.

Three hundred, Za Baikal mounted artillery.

One thousand, belonging to East Siberian engineers, but none of them are engineers.

Three hundred, a company of navy engineers. Besides they have two companies of mining engineers.

Commanders of the forces are as follows:

Lieut.-Gen. Smilhoff, commander of Port Arthur forts.

Maj.-Gen. Fock, commander of Fourth division.

Maj.-Gen. Kondratenko, commander of Seventh division.

Lieut.-Col. Madrinoff, chief of staff; making a total of over 27,550. Or this number 1,700, it is estimated, were taken north in the armored train which escaped at the moment of the seizure of the railroad, and about 3,000 men have been killed or disabled since the battles at Kinchen and Nanshanling. Thus, there now remains about 23,550 in the garrison and forts. Before the escape of the fleet there were in addition 11,000 sailors, under command of Admiral Witthoff. There are now 7,000.

SOME HONORS CONFERRED

London, Jan. 1.—The royal family circles spent New Year's day quietly at Sandringham. The customary New Year honors were omitted, but Sir E. J. Monson, the retiring ambassador at Paris, was given a baronetcy, and the King placed a residence in Richmond park at his disposal on his retirement from the diplomatic service. Sir Charles Hardinge, the ambassador at St. Petersburg, was decorated with the Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George. A number of Indian officials were similarly honored. From the religious point of view the feature of the New Year is the extraordinary activity of revivalists who held stirring services in London and elsewhere, enormous crowds displaying the greatest fervor.

TRUE FRIEND OF HIGHER EDUCATION

Mr. A. C. Flumerfelt the Generous Donor of Scholarships.

Some time ago announcement was made to the effect that a scholarship had been donated which would give High school pupils a chance to take up university education. The name of the generous donor was withheld, but it was learned yesterday that Mr. A. C. Flumerfelt is the gentleman in question. The amount is $250 and the competition is open to pupils who shall have completed their second year of college work in a B. C. High school. At present only Vancouver scholars will be entitled to enter, as the terminal City is the only one which takes up second year work. At present Victoria only takes first year work, but it is hoped that second year work will be undertaken next year.

Two concurrent scholarships will be necessary, as the scholarship will be for two years. The committee in charge is composed of the following gentlemen: Superintendent Robinson, City Superintendent Eaton of Victoria, City Superintendent Agate of Vancouver and Mr. Justice Irving. The university will be either Toronto or McGill, and in awarding the scholarship, personal as well as scholarly qualifications will be considered. Mr. Flumerfelt is giving the scholarship in order to make it possible for scholars to obtain a university education, and he particularly wished it to be open to the Province. The present form of scholarship is tentative; more complete arrangements will be made when things get into good working order.

NEW YEAR RECEPTIONS.

Tokio, Jan. 1.—The Emperor and Empress held a brilliant New Year ceremony at the palace today.

Copenhagen, Jan. 1.—King Christian gave the usual New Year reception today to the diplomatic corps.

"PURELY VEGETABLE"
Look out for these "purely vegetable" medicines. Aconite, Belladonna, Digitalis, Morphine, Strichnine—all violent poisons—are vegetable. You see the term means nothing, as regards safety.

Fruitatives
Apples, oranges, figs and prunes make them. The juices are combined by our secret process, which intensifies their medicinal action, and pressed into tablets. These are "FRUIT-A-TIVES"—nature's tonic and laxative—the only certain cure for Indigestion, Headaches, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Troubles.

They look like fruit—taste like fruit—smell like fruit—ARE fruit. See a bottle at druggists everywhere. FRUITATIVES, Limited, OTTAWA.

A. G. SAIGISON, Managing Director

THE FUNCTIONS OF A TRUST COMPANY.

At the present time there are eleven trust companies doing business in Canada, and the one recently formed in Winnipeg—the Northern Trusts Company—will complete a round dozen. Of these no less than five have their homes in Toronto. Australia has more companies doing a trust business than Canada. In the United States they are especially numerous. In each country, however, the companies have their distinguishing features, as has been pointed out very clearly by Mr. J. Heaton, B. A., in a brochure he published recently. (The Trust Company Idea and Its Development, Hunter, Rose Co., Limited, publishers, Toronto.)

"In the United States," he says, "a trust company can undertake a banking business, the guaranteeing of land titles, the underwriting of stock, and practically everything and anything of an agency description that will pay." Recent years have furnished an abundance of trust companies in the United States for the special purpose of floating advantageously vast quantities of watered stock. The investigation of the courts has cast upon the name "trust company" in the United States a certain amount of suspicion, and at the present time a lively agitation is taking place in the financial journals and amongst responsible financial men for the purpose of effecting a better regulation of such companies, and also for a definition of their functions.

In Canada, however, the conditions are different and the character of the trust company is different. Mr. Heaton says that the manager of a well-conducted trust company in either Canada or Australia, if asked whether all the privileges enjoyed by the United States companies should be exercised by their companies, would answer that "there are some things which ought not to be done by a company to which the government grants a charter for the purpose of attending to the interests of its wards, the orphan, the helpless and insane. It must not incur obligations to the public except in its capacity as trustee; and the invasion of the financial department store must be repelled, because the company which is confined to the functions of executor and trustee needs protection from the competition of the general agent."

According to the printed prospectus of the Northern Trusts Company, which is at the present time being distributed, they are empowered by their act of incorporation "to exercise all the functions of a trust and loan company, to act as agent, trustee, executor, administrator and liquidator of estates, make investment of trust funds committed to their care, or act as agent for any person holding any such office." These powers, however, are not as extensive as those held and exercised by some companies in Canada. They do not include, for instance, the flotation of stocks. Speaking with the managing director of the company, Mr. Heaton, B. A., the impression was gathered that the company will confine itself solely to trust business. In doing so he claims they will do a very large business and that such a company is needed in Western Canada. This may be taken to reflect the opinion of the other directors who have subscribed largely for the stock, and their influence alone will place a large amount of purely trust business in the hands of their company.

There is no reason why the capital of the West should not have its own trust companies, and these as strong as those of the East. The Northern seems to be laid out on a plan to become so. Not only will it start out with a large paid-up capital, but it will diversify itself as a guarantee of that essential stock-in-trade of a trust company—special skill, constant vigilance, permanence, reliability and, most important of all, good management. The latter qualities are those enumerated in a little book published by Mr. Heaton, who adds: "The advantages in selecting a well-managed trust company to act as executor and trustee are written in large letters in the literature of every company. The trust company does not die. This is a substantial advantage, because trusts frequently last for twenty-five or fifty years. The creator of a trust may select the original trustees with the greatest care, but it is impossible for him to control the selection of their successors. The trust company is always available; it is never ill, and never takes a vacation; its officers are experts in the management of estates; the execution of trusts is their primary concern, and not subordinate to other interests, as is sometimes the case with individuals. These officers know how to meet each emergency as it arises, and how to make the best of estates committed to their charge. It is in constant touch through its manager and directors with the financial world, and is constantly on the watch in the interests of its clients to procure new investments and advise when a change of investment is desirable. A trust company cannot abscond. Its clients have the whole capital of the company as security for the faithful performance of its duties, and it keeps a separate account of each trust, so that no trust funds can be imperilled in the possible event of disaster. It has proper vaults for the keeping of securities, and regular departments for every detail of the work to be done. Its advice is wholly disinterested, and as the custodian of family secrets it is as impersonal and secretive as the Egyptian sphinx. It costs no more to employ a trust company than an individual."

Mr. Heaton's book has certainly appeared at a time when it will give, in comprehensible form, a lot of information regarding the growth of trust companies that cannot fail to interest a large portion of the public. Trust company business is likely to grow to large dimensions in Canada as it has done in the United States, and sooner or later the laws governing them will have to be made uniform as in the case of the banks. When this is done the information which has been reduced to such excellent order by Mr. Heaton will be valuable, and the author cannot fail to be regarded as an authority on the question.

THE TERROR IN MOROCCO.

Montreal Gazette.
Since Mr. Budget Meakin lectured in Montreal (about seven years ago) the country where people he described as "wild, coming on the platform in Moorish garb, and chanting forth the call to prayer with a peculiar voice, has been a frequent sight. It is a long time since Europe began to be interested in that ancient land. Even in the days of the Crusades, when the Mohammedans were at their height, the Mohammedans were called by a name (Mauri-Mooris) which, then as now, had a twofold meaning. The Moors of the 20th century, of every hue from that of the people of Southern Europe to that of the people of the Sudan. In the course of ages, after submitting to Roman, Byzantine, Arab, and Portuguese domination, that very ancient town came under the flag of England as a portion of the dowry of Catherine of Braganza, queen of Charles the Second. Charles had no money to spare, and a year or so before the more thrifty but too immobile James came to the throne, he grew tired of paying for his keep, and the fortress was dismantled and the town abandoned to the Moors. It was fortified again and was destined to sustain several sieges. It looks as if some new experience would overtake it before long, which will improve its character as a winter city for the invalids of the north. The members of that interesting class have been regularly assured, indeed, that whatever disturbing rumors might reach them as to the interior of the Sultan's domain, there was no cause for apprehension of any break in the tranquillity of Tangier. But after the occurrences of the year that is closing, it would be folly to pay heed to assurances so insecure. The evidence that even in Tangier the lives of neither residents nor visitors, whether native or adoptive citizens of some great power, France or England or the United States—could be protected under the present dispensation, has become more and more glaring every successive month of the still current year. The administration of the Sultan, who (as men were fain for a time to believe) was the destined reformer of this East as Europe's doors has become more and more debased and feeble, until now it is no longer tolerable to civilization. Various reasons have kept the hands of the powers off Morocco hitherto. Some thought that the use of moral suasion, with from time to time a little help, and now and then a reasonable menace, would effect a gradual improvement. Besides, there was by no means that agreement among the civilized powers which would have made it possible to impact a lesson or apply correction. Ever since the Anglo-French understanding, the republican government has hesitated to proceed to the use of coercion. It was becoming plain that if France did not move it would be necessary for some other power to in-

If you get your medicines from Shotbolt (whose name is hidden in the above quotation), you will feel so perfectly satisfied with yourself and every body that you will not wish to talk about anybody save to praise. tervene on behalf of threatened Christianity. A peaceful mission to Fez, which was at first thought of, seemed only to provoke the mountain tribes to violence. There were signs, indeed, that the people were about to develop into a sort of internal jihad to which the Sultan, in spite of his descent, might fall victim. The latest news is more alarming than that of the past. The British consul and all British subjects have been instructed to leave Fez. The communications with that city and the rest of the interior are by no means rapid, and should a general rising occur, it would not be easy for Europeans to get away without molestation. Generally it takes a week to go to Fez, and a week to travel thence to the coast. In quiet times, for those who have lived in Tangier or elsewhere on the Mediterranean, the journey to Fez, to Meknes (Mequinez), or to Marakesh (Morocco) is not very difficult. If they understand Arabic and are acquainted with the rules of Moorish courtesy, which forbid some usages common enough among Europeans. One luxury is peculiarly dangerous, and it is to be feared that Cook's tourists, bent on having the worst of both worlds, have not always denied it to themselves—the luxury of staring at the natives while they are at their devotions. It is unhappy that the rules of one class, or nationally, during tours through the lands of Islam, and especially through Moorland, has created grudges which are sometimes visited upon the rest of the world. This has happened again and again in modern times. But this stands apart from brigandage that is unchecked.

It is revealing that the naval demonstration of the United States proved ineffectual, and it is inferred with reason that any like show of force on France's part would have no effect on the present lawlessness. It is supposed, therefore, to occupy the ports with sailors and soldiers in such strength that insurrection and consequent bloodshed will be avoided. Mr. Mellesse is, indeed, to strike unless the provocation become too gross. Perhaps, on the whole, as the thing will almost certainly have been done sooner or later, it were better to be done promptly. The situation recalls in a general way that of 1882, when a young man struck at Arab. It was a good thing for Africa and for the world, and it will also be good for Christianity, and Islam alike when the intermittent reign of terror is forever arrested in the land of his Shereefian majesty.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

POULTRY SHOW.
Sir—May I have a line in your paper for a local matter which should have the help of all citizens of this town? I refer to the annual show of the Victoria Poultry and Pet Stock Association, which takes place from January 12 to 15, and which, owing to the persistent efforts of a few, has now become an established annual event.

The importance of this industry is being put forward by the government and the Tourist Association, and is recognized by all who have looked into the matter carefully. There is no better stimulant to the breeding of good stock than a good show, as it educates people up to the higher standards in breeding and causes the more care and competition in each succeeding show. It is a fact that some of the Western breeders are now shipping birds to the East and to Australia, many birds going from California to the latter country, and at large prices, and this trade could be diverted to the breeding in this country. I call on all the business houses with season tickets in the course of the next few days, and it is hoped that the members of the association will show their appreciation of the work done by this association. I may add that none of the members of the association receive any remuneration for their services, but the more funds, the better the prizes, and consequently the more entries and better competition.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and this inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be restored forever; nine cases out of ten are cured by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE SUNSET OF THE YEAR

How the year ended in the Orient—Where the wives and mothers await the end of the war and its attendant horrors.

The Friendly Help—Members of the Friendly Help Association are again reminded that the monthly meeting of that charitable organization will be held at the rooms in the Market hall tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

Council Meeting.—On account of the holiday today, the weekly meeting of the City Council will be held tomorrow evening. Routine business will be transacted and the session will probably be a short one.

Will Elect Officers.—At their meeting on Thursday evening of this week, the members of the Forest will choose their officers for the ensuing term, afterwards entertaining their friends at a social dance in the Sir William Wallace hall.

Advertising the Climate.—It's a poor day even in December or January that does not produce some unique and effective advertisement of the mildness of Vancouver Island's favored climate. The latest is a branch of ripe and luscious raspberries grown out of doors at Duncan, picked on the last day of the old year, and now on exhibition at the rooms of the Tourist Association, Fort Street.

Watchnight Services.—While others welcomed the new year with shouts and clamor, there were many more seriously minded who observed the passage of 1904 and the advent of 1905 with prayer and thanksgiving at the watchnight services conducted by the Methodist, one or two of the Presbyterian, two of the Presbyterian churches and the Salvation Army. The services were of more than ordinary impressiveness.

Better Late Than Never.—Tomorrow afternoon the members of the Tuesday Club will listen to a number of papers on the Christmas festival, as treated by Shakespeare, Dickens, Thackeray and other noted writers. These papers were to have been read and discussed at the last meeting of the club, just before the Christmas holidays, but were tabled to enable the club to listen to the address by Mr. Ben. Greer, the English scholar and actor.

The King of Wines.—The passing holiday season has been notable in the demands it has made upon the local stocks of those royal wines, Mumms' Extra Dry and Mumms' Select Brut, represented in Victoria by Messrs. Pithers and Leiser, and accepted everywhere as representing the standard of champagne excellence. To connoisseurs Mumms' products represent the acme of wine quality, and the demand is based upon public recognition of genuine excellence.

Funeral of H. C. Lawson.—The funeral of the late Henry Charles Lawson took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, 243 Johnson street, at 1:45 p. m., and at 2 o'clock from Christ Church Cathedral, where service was conducted by R. Rev. Bishop Perrin. There was a very large attendance of friends and many floral offerings. The Odd Fellows attended in a body. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Wm. Rockett, A. L. Brownlee, J. McGraw, Capt. McCoskie, J. A. Heritage and A. Graham.

Vancouver Team.—The Vancouver juniors arrived on the Princess Victoria yesterday evening, ready for their match with the Victoria boys at Oak Bay this afternoon. The line-up of the Terminal City players will be as follows: Full back, E. Murray; three-quarters, F. Jackson, A. Yates, J. J. Bell, and a parent's champion, T. De Wolf; S. McLeod, forwards: G. Harris, G. Davis, W. McConnell, B. Clarkson, T. Price, J. Scott, K. Taylor, R. Gibson. Four well-known Victoria players are on the team, J. Belyea, C. McNeill, W. McConnell and R. Gibson. The back division is light, but the forwards are heavy.

The Druggists' Sunday.—By an arrangement made some time ago, and generally adhered to by all local pharmacists, the drug stores of Victoria are closed during a greater part of each Sunday, druggists as well as other people feeling that they have a right to one day of rest in the week. The arrangement is not, however, without its manifest drawbacks. The drug store is unlike any other retail business or establishment. It often may be said a life is in the state of a patient's chamber, recovery depend upon the immediate filling of a prescription. Therefore, it has been urged that the druggists' regulations might well be amended so that in turn some one establishment might always be found open to dispense emergency prescriptions. The suggestion might well be given consideration by the druggists in their own and in the public interest.

CANTATA AT ST. BARNABAS. Sacred Musical Work Successfully Presented Yesterday Afternoon.

Notwithstanding unfavorable weather, a large congregation assembled in St. Barnabas church yesterday afternoon to hear the sacred cantata "Lost Gipsy." The church looked very pretty with its Christmas decorations of evergreen, holly and grain. "Lost Gipsy" is an interesting story of the poor in England, which was read in chapters by Rev. E. G. Miller between the solos and choruses. The music was very pretty, and the story was well acted. The choir was composed of young ladies, little girls, boys and several gentlemen. The voices blended well and the following numbers were effectively given: Anthem, "As the Heart Panted"; chorus, "Remember Me, O Mighty One"; "Jesus Saves Me Now"; "Happy Are We"; "The Happy Home Above"; and "Along the River of Time"; solo, "Jesus Loves the Children"; Lester Jones, Arthur Green and Gerald Miller, choruses, "Rest of the Weary"; and "God is Good"; anthem, "The Lord Will Be a Refuge," and chorus, "Put Thou Thy Trust in God."

NEW YEAR'S DAY ARRANGEMENTS

The Receptions at Government House—Theatrical and Sporting Fixtures.

Today will be generally observed in Victoria and throughout Canada, as though it were really and truly New Year's day. The newspaper folk will enjoy a holiday, banks and public offices will be closed, a majority of the business establishments will similarly rest from commercial activities, and holiday fare will grace the boards at the homes of the citizens and in public institutions. It will be just as much Happy New Year as though it had been January 1st instead of 2nd, and had had the honor of the traditional noisy welcome voiced with strident whistle and peace-deceiving firecracker.

At Government House His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor, assisted by Mrs. Nanton and Miss Lovell, will dispense the hospitality from 3 until 6 o'clock. His Worship the Mayor and Mrs. Barnard also being at home to callers at their residence, corner of Belcher street and Pemberton road, during the same hours. Many ladies will similarly keep open house for their gentlemen friends; and the stranger that is within the gates, together with all friends of such institutions, will be welcomed and suitably entertained at public receptions to be held by the W. C. T. U. at the Johnson street mission, and by the ladies' auxiliary of that organization at the Y. M. C. A. during both afternoon and evening.

The principal sporting event for today is the Rugby football match between the Victoria and the Vancouver Juniors at Oak Bay. The game will start at 3 o'clock, and as the teams are well matched an interesting struggle is assured. If the Victoria boys win they capture the championship of British Columbia, and on that account every member of the team will put forth his best efforts. A senior championship Rugby match will be played at Nanaimo today between Vancouver and Nanaimo. The local players always put up a hard fight on their own grounds, and the Vancouverites will have their work cut out to win. All the members of the Victoria Hockey Club are requested to turn out for a practice game at Oak Bay this morning at 1 o'clock. Captain K. Schofield of the Victoria club will referee the league match between the R. G. A. and R. E. at the garrison on Wednesday. This evening the visiting juniors from Vancouver will be the guests of their Victoria rivals at a dance in the A. O. U. W. hall.

In the theatres there will be matinee and evening offerings. At the Victoria, the members of the local operatic society will present a very attractive little opera of "Dorothy," under the direction of Mr. M. M. Finn, with an augmented chorus and orchestra, special costumes and scenery, and a well balanced cast headed by Miss Ethel Green and Mr. Fred Richardson. The Richmond, both in the afternoon and in the evening will give the so-called "hypnotic" comedy-drama, "The Man of Mystery," a bill said to provide exceptional opportunities for all the leaders in this popular company. At the Grand, the week's bill will be opened with double matinee performances, including the Kingsbury in a comedy-musical act; Gene King, the noted baritone, and his wonderful performing dog; Davis and Von Kaufmann in an original sketch-replay "My Country Sweetheart"; Wills and Collins in another travesty, "A Day in Madrid"; Smith and Chester, operatic duettists; the motion picture story of the life of Kit Carson; and Mr. Roberts in an appropriate illustrated song. The feature of the week at the Savoy will be another of the merry Howlette burlesques, this time "The Wizard of Oz," supplemented by the usual strong vaudeville olio.

Poultry Fanciers to Meet.—An important meeting of the local Poultry Fanciers' Association is to be held at H. E. Levy's, 124 Government street, tomorrow evening.

CONSUMPTION

With the aid of proper living Angier's Emulsion will cure consumption in the earlier stages and give the greatest possible relief in the later stages. It relieves the expectoration, removes the pain from the chest, reduces the fever, makes breathing easy, restores the strength, sweats and checks diarrhoea. It induces an increase of body weight and strength.

Have you tried the "Rub Dry" Towels? They are truly a luxury at a price only slightly in advance of an ordinary "fluffy" towel—try one and you will want more—nickel plated, 3 arm towel holders, 15c each, at Weiler Bros., Government street.

May Good Luck, Good Health & Success Attend You

through all of nineteen hundred and five. We thank you heartily, earnestly, for your many kindnesses during the "Just ended" year, and only hope that we shall merit a continuance of your sincerely appreciated favors and esteem. With every good wish for "A Happy New Year."

Sincerely yours,

DAVID SPENCER, LD. JANUARY SALE

SALE Commences TUESDAY This year as well as last we make reductions on all Winter Goods during the month of January instead of waiting till February as in former years. Our customers will appreciate this, as a bargain is doubly a bargain when coming at the right time. The following list will start the sale, and similar bargains will be listed in the daily papers every day during January. In the Dress Goods, Jacket and Men's Clothing Departments, we have never made such sweeping reductions. SALE Commences TUESDAY

Men's Clothing

We might well use the word "Sensation" in connection with this Suit Sale for we know what effect it will have on those who read this news. Every Ten Dollar Suit in the Store will be offered during January at $5.00 Suit. Every $12.50, $15.00, $17.50 and $20.00 Suit in the Store will be offered during January at $8.00 Suit.

It's Simply This

We will open up a large Stock of Spring Clothing shortly, and while there is not much difference in Fall and Spring weights, the patterns are different, and we intend in this department—like the Ladies' Jacket Department—to have a brand new stock to show every season. Our Clothing business is growing very rapidly—the result of keeping a very large stock at low prices. Our Clothing customers who are any judge of value know we have been saving you $2.50 to $5.00 on every Suit purchased from us at $10.00 to $20.00 in the regular way. Now we want to sell every Tweed Suit in the store—we are not particular about the Serge Suits, but they go at the same reductions—and have gone to our very lowest notch in price reductions. In deciding on $5.00 and $8.00 as the Clearance Price, the actual loss we would make in doing this was not the only consideration, but how low would we have to make the price to be sure and accomplish our object.

Now for Men's Overcoats

Our Stock of Overcoats (not Raincoats) sorted into three prices: $2.50 for $5.00 and $7.50 Overcoats. $5.00 for $10.00 Overcoats. $7.50 for $12.50, $15.00 and $17.50 Overcoats.

Boys' 3-Piece Suits in Tweeds and Fancy Worsteds

$2.75 for $4.00 and $4.50 Suits. $3.75 for $5.00 and $6.50 Suits. $4.75 for $7.50 Suits.

Boys' Norfolk Suits

$1.50 for Tweed Suits, regular value $2.50 and $3.00. $2.50 for Tweed Suits, value to $4.00. $3.50 for Tweed Suits, value to $5.00. Our Annual Sale of Men's Hats at one dollar commences Tuesday, January 3rd. Once a year we freshen up our stock in this way. Regular prices $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50.

Dress Goods

Sale prices 15c., 25c., 35c., 50c., 75c. and $1.00. Regular prices 25c. to $3.50 per yard, as follows: All Wool Serge, 44 in. wide. Colors—Myrtle, Brown, Pearl, Cadet and Navy. Good value at 25c. MASON AND RISCH

ABSOLUTE accuracy in mechanical details has to be adhered to in successful piano making. The divergence of a very small fraction of an inch in some of the parts will materially impair the tone of the instrument.

Now the iron plate should be not only mathematically accurate to ensure the best results, but the maximum of rigidity is required to sustain the heavy tension of the strings.

The plate of a Mason and Risch Piano is especially designed, the result of scientific experiment. It is made in two parts, the end into which the pin-block is set being cast separately from the rest.

When cast all in one piece the lighter part of the plate cools first and the section containing the heavier amount of metal cools slowly and throws the other part of the plate out of alignment. To obviate this warping we invented and patented the Mason and Risch Duplex Iron Plate. By this system our plate is scientifically accurate, having greatly increased tensile strength and rigidity, the strings bearing perfectly on the bridges.

We would like you to see some of our leaflets and get particulars of our easy-payment plan. Will you write or call for them?

Victim Of Hydrophobia

Tragic Death of J. B. Colvin a Well-Known Resident of Victoria.

Succumbed to a Most Terrible Malady at the Jubilee Hospital.

Was Bitten by a Wolf at Whitehorse Some Months Ago.

THE death occurred at the Jubilee hospital here at 1 o'clock yesterday morning of Mr. James B. Colvin, a resident of British Columbia for upwards of thirty years and for many years proprietor of the Clyde shipyard in this city. Mr. Colvin was a victim of that most horrible and little understood disease, hydrophobia, caused by the bites of a wolf at Whitehorse three months or so ago.

After long experience as a successful shipbuilder in Victoria, the late Mr. Colvin joined the migration to the Klondike in the excitement of 1897 and built the first of the river steamers plying upon the upper Yukon, the Ora, the Flora and the Nora. Every year since that memorable period, while claiming Victoria as his permanent home, he has gone to the new North in the employ of the White Pass & Yukon company, by whose officers he was held in the highest esteem and with whom he held an important and responsible position.

It was some time late in September last that Mr. Colvin was the victim of the grim adventure that thus long since is the occasion of his fearful and untimely death. He and his wife were out on a walk in the park, when he was attacked by a wolf. Mr. Colvin went outside to investigate the cause of his apparent distress, and was immediately set upon by a lone wolf, which fastened its fangs in the neck of the man. Mr. Colvin was brought first of all his wife, who bravely attacked the ferocious animal with a bit of wood. Afterwards several members of the Northwest Mounted Police joined in the rescue, and the brute made off, but not before Mr. Colvin's hands had both been badly mangled.

The injured man was for several weeks under the care of the resident medical practitioner at Whitehorse, when he returned to Victoria in early November. He was here attended by Dr. Frank W. Hall, under whose care his wounds healed even more rapidly than could at the outset have been hoped for, and last month he was able to undertake light manual work about his home, quite recently being engaged in the building of a fence about his residence, at the corner of Powderly avenue and Dismouth road.

A few days after Christmas Mr. Colvin complained of depression and illness, acquainting the fear he had persistently been tortured by—that hydrophobia would result from his unusual injuries. On Thursday last Dr. Hall visited him, and the patient, who had been in the hospital for some time, was found to be in a state of extreme nervousness. The patient's first complaint was of severe pain in the throat and his crippled hands and arms. On Friday the case had so developed itself that the medical man ordered his patient to develop hydrophobia, to visit a Pasteur institute and take the treatment of that expert. This now necessitates a trip to Paris, for although there was an American branch institute located for a time in New York, it has since that time is no longer in existence.

The sufferings of the hydrophobia victim according to the doctors and nurses were of the most horrible description imaginable. He had all the hallucinations associated with the dread disease, the very sight of water or of a cup of glass being sufficient to precipitate the most violent spasms. The sight of any one passing, or the appearance of one of his attendants, would send him crouching into the corner of a room so long as he was sufficiently strong to move. Every element of horror that is incidental to a developed case of rabies was markedly in evidence.

Naturally Dr. Hall consulted with Dr. Hart, his associate in practice, and with other leading members of the profession, but their talents enabled them to do nothing to rescue the doomed man from his inexorable fate.

The wolf by which the poor fellow was attacked was a white wolf, which had been brought to Whitehorse from Cassiar by one of the police, was owned by the government, and was allegedly being kept and partially tamed in order that experiments might be made as to the result of crosses for deerskin work. On the night of Mr. Colvin's fatal adventure it had broken from its chain. Considerable indignation had previously been expressed at the police for having released the animal in so populous a place, and quite recently—since his return to Victoria—Mr. Colvin has talked of instituting a claim for damages.

Dr. Colvin was 51 years of age, and was a native of the Shetland Isles. He has made his home in Victoria for upwards of thirty years, and his last professional employment here was as a contractor for the well known steamer Venture. The late Mr. Colvin leaves a widow, the daughter of Police Sergeant Howton of 181 Pandora avenue, from whose residence the funeral will take place tomorrow (Tuesday) at 2 o'clock, services being afterwards held at St. John's church. Two sons, Walter and James, respectively 12 and 14 years of age, are also bereft of a father's care and guidance.

RELIGIOUS REVIVAL.

Chicago Evangelists Cutting a Wide Swath in England.

Liverpool, Jan. 1. Rev. Ruben A. Torrey and Charles M. Alexander, the Chicago evangelists, today opened their first three weeks of their crusade with stirring scenes. A unique observance of New Year's Day was the feature of the tribulation throughout the city by personal delivery to passers-by, in private letter boxes, in saloons, etc., of 250,000 white cards inscribed simply, in glowing red type, "Get Right With God."

Wholesale conversions have resulted from this plan, and crowds made public confessions at tonight's meeting. Four thousand converts already have inscribed their names, and it is expected that 6,000 will have made confession before the evangelists go to London for a five months' crusade on a larger scale than any similar campaign that has been witnessed by the present generation.

A mother's love starts a man or woman on the right path. The right remedy at the right time fits mother for the ordeal. Motherhood is often looked forward to with feelings of great dread by most women. At such a time when she is nervous, dyspeptic, irritable and in need of a tonic—something which will calm the nervous system through the special organs, and a strength builder, she will find Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription just what is needed. Here is a medicine that has stood the test of a third of a century with approval, in that time it has sold more largely than any other remedy put up specially for women's weaknesses. It is guaranteed by the proprietors not to contain a particle of alcohol—which could only do harm to a sensitive system.

The World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, offer a $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, biliousness and headache.

Don't Want Closed Year

Fishermen on Sound Object to the Proposed Cannery Plan.

Say Much Suffering Will Ensur If Laws Are Again Amended.

Ballard, Wash., Dec. 31.—The fishermen of Ballard are not pleased with the suggestions made for legislation governing fishing and making a closed season at certain periods. There are about 400 fishermen in this city, and H. Z. Wadney, who has lived on the Sound for eighteen years, and who is interested in the fishing proposition, was chosen by the fishermen to give their side of the story. Mr. Wadney said today:

"In the Post-Intelligencer of December 27 appeared an article stating that the Puget Sound cannerymen had held a meeting to suggest methods to preserve the salmon fishing industry. The result of the meeting was that a few cannerymen decided upon the following proposed legislation: A weekly close of thirty-six hours during the open months of intervening fishing seasons, and a complete shut-down for the years 1906 and 1908. In 1907 fish may be caught without restraint. It further states that these people will introduce a bill and secure its passage by the legislature at the next session which shall make it unlawful for salmon of any kind to be taken in 1906 and 1908. The article here that the time of critical danger had arrived, and that it was necessary to take some steps to protect fish and cannery companies and their resources, and that cannerymen were necessary."

"If a bill of this nature, prohibiting seine and gill net fishermen from fishing and earning a livelihood for themselves and families were passed, become a law and enforced, it would prove most disastrous to the fishermen of the Sound. These men scarcely earn a dollar the year around outside of fishing. They have their little savings invested in their nets and material to keep up repairs, etc., and in this way have made a living on the Sound since long before fish traps were introduced into these waters. The proposed bill would prove a great protection to the cannery people, who would not have their traps and canneries every alternate year."

"It is a shrewd business proposition for the cannerymen. For instance, next year will be the big year, or four-year period, when the heaviest run will be expected. Every canneryman knows his business will make all his preparations to handle a record pick. They will then probably be able to supply the markets of the world for two years or more, and could safely name the price of their goods with a big profit and get it. After that pack is made, the law would say there would be no more fishing until a year had elapsed. It is clear to be seen that the cannerymen are protected."

"In 1907, with an open season, his stock will be exhausted, and he is ready for another pack, with the same result of closing in 1908. The two last seasons were most unsatisfactory to the trap owners. The traps are expensive to operate in off years, and that is why this extreme measure has been agreed on by the trap owners. All this has been thought of and talked of by the smaller fishermen. The traps will not cease in their destructive mode of fishing until they can't make it pay. In 1901, when they had the heaviest run of the finest fish ever known, and when a record pack was made, it was impossible to handle the fish fast enough."

"The traps run full of fish, which were held there until they piled up high out of the water at low tide. The weight of the multitude of dead fish bore downward upon the bottoms of the large pots and broke them, and tremendous quantities of fish were destroyed in this way. This will never be forgotten by the many fishermen of the Sound who were eye-witnesses of the above occurrence. Now it is claimed protection is needed, and the small fisherman must suffer for the wrong which the fish traps have done."

"All the people who like fresh caught salmon would have to take canned salmon on packed by these companies during 1906 and 1908 if this measure became a law. The dealers are in the business for profits, while the smaller fishermen are in the business for a living for themselves and their families. The closing for thirty-six hours weekly would be satisfactory, undoubtedly, to most fishermen providing they were proper measures were taken. The fish should have the route to the spawning grounds without being hindered by the trap leads, which must be lifted out of the water at closing in many places, so as to let the fish pass by. It would not be sufficient to close the tunnels or entrances to the pot of a trap if the lead is allowed to stand during the closed hours. The fish will lead to the heart and choke around there until the tunnel opens again."

"They have gathered there in great numbers and will be caught just the same. The traps are set out each year about June 1, and remain in the water all night and day continuously until October 15 each year. The seine fishers and gill net fishermen have their nets in the water from three to six hours during each twenty-four in moderate weather, and then when the run is on only. Now is the time to protect the fish, and the fishermen should see that no such bill as that proposed by the cannerymen becomes a law, as in the event it does their occupation is gone. I have talked to a large number of fishermen, and they all think the same way."

AT STRAWBERRY VALE.

The heavy rains did not prevent the young people, parents and friends from attending in large numbers the annual Christmas entertainment at Strawberry Vale on Thursday evening last. A somewhat lengthy but interesting programme was creditably rendered, consisting of choruses, instrumental and vocal music, dialogues, reading and recitations. Tea was served at 6 p. m. to the young people, and at 7 p. m. to the adults.

Rev. T. H. Wright, pastor of the church, presided. Signs of progress were visible in every branch of Sunday school work. The songs were elevating and brightly rendered. A very pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment was the presentation of a substantial and beautiful oak rocking chair, trimmed with leather, to Mrs. Etheridge, the superintendent of the Sunday school. The address was read by Mrs. Allison, in which was set forth appreciation of the faithfulness and successful efforts of Mrs. Etheridge in her work. Mr. Ferguson, who acted as Santa Claus, made the presentation, making suitable remarks. Mrs. Etheridge modestly accepted the gift and replied in feeling terms, acknowledging the gift and thanking all for their great kindness. The children were then remembered by Santa Claus, who presented a supply of candies, nuts and oranges were given to the scholars.

Mr. Wright then spoke of the success of the evening's entertainment, and wished all a happy New Year, after which the National Anthem was sung and the entertainment given by the pastor, when the pleasant proceedings terminated.

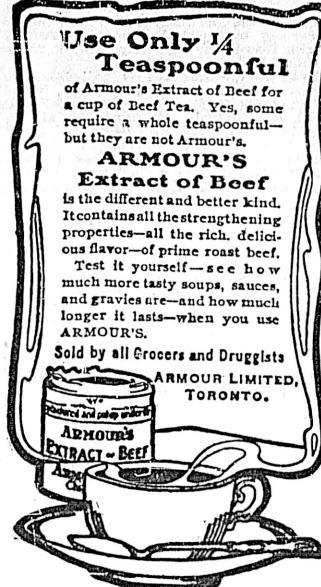

Eminent Physicians Endorse this Method of Curing Catarrh.

Leading specialists agree that the only way to cure catarrh is to treat the diseased tissue direct. Blood purifiers, cocaine powders and greasy sprays don't reach the affected parts.

THE RHEUDERDAHL TROPHY.

Emblematic Work of Art Now Proudly Carried by U. S. S. Paul Jones.

Yesterday's blustery weather was responsible for a general disposition to keep within doors, in consequence of which there were but few visitors aboard the American torpedo boat destroyer Paul Jones, which still remains at anchorage in Esquimalt harbor, and will not reach anchor until tomorrow morning. When she does take farewell of Esquimalt she heads for the Terminal City, where her commander expects to spend a day or two before proceeding to Friday and Roche harbors, San Juan Island.

All who have been aboard the fast-steaming engine of marine warfare cannot but have noticed in a position of honor on the quarterdeck, a magnificent framed relief in brass which compels attention by reason of its artistic excellence. It has other title to regard, however, since it is emblematic of superiority in marksmanship in the important class in the new American navy to which the Paul Jones belongs. Indeed it might almost be said that it represents the best marksmanship of the entire navy, for the destroyers are the sharpshooters of the fleet.

The trophy, which is in repose, is competed for annually. Last March it was disputed by sixteen destroyers. It gives what he considers three simple rules, by carefully observing which no one need fear this modern scourge. The rules are:

First—Don't neglect chills when heated by exercise.

Second—Maximize well and eat slowly; don't swallow any food that is not perfectly softened by the teeth.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE. Paris, Jan. 1.—Count Tornielli, the Italian ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps, in presenting to President Loubet the New Year's greetings of the corps, expressed admiration for France's great part in the work of promoting international peace, referring especially to the conclusion of arbitration treaties and the settlement of outstanding international differences. President Loubet replied in an appropriate speech, emphasizing as an evidence of the growth of the arbitration idea the meeting of the international commission for the settlement of the North sea affair, to which body France is at this time offering her hospitality.

C. P. R. Steamers Using New Docks

Princess Liners Now Operated From New Wharves in James Bay.

Ship Carleton Is Reported Fast
on the Sands Near Bellingham.

The C. P. R. steamers began to come and go from the new wharves in James Bay yesterday. The offices, heretofore on the wharves on the inner harbor approached from Wharf street, have been removed to the new premises, and as soon as the building now being constructed on Belleville street is complete, the company's offices will be removed there. The steamer Princess Beatrice, on her arrival from Seattle yesterday afternoon, docked at the new wharf, and she will come and go from there hereafter. Likewise, the steamer Princess Victoria. The three-funnelled liner arrived there from Vancouver at 6:30 p. m. yesterday, and the hackmen and hotel busses had a run over the causeway instead of going to Wharf street as usual. The new wharf is splendidly fitted for the requirements of the company's business. The steamer Amur, which arrived from Skagway on Saturday, is moored at the new wharf, and will be operated from there. The steamers Tees and Queen City will continue to use the wharves approached from Wharf street, leaving from the Enterprise wharf, which is being vacated by the steamers of the Alaska S. S. Co., which are to be moved to Turner-Rection's wharf. The steamers Tees and Queen City left last night, the former for Sana and way ports of northern British Columbia, the latter for Abou-sah and way ports on the west coast of Vancouver Island. Both carried small cargoes and light complements of passengers, business being light at this season.

CARLETON IS FAST.

The American ship S. D. Carleton will have to be docked as a result of her stranding, if floated. The ship, Capt. Mc-Leod, which dragged her anchors and went ashore near Squallum creek, Bellingham, during the southeast gale of Wednesday last, still lies on the beach in the same position, the efforts of the tug which came to her assistance this morning having proved unavailing. At high water Friday the powerful ocean-going tugs Tacoma, Pioneer, Wanderer and Ba-hads pulled on the ship for nearly two hours, but were unable to move her out of the sands in which she has become imbedded. It is believed now that by discharging all of her ballast and possibly dredging away some of the sand which has been washed up around the vessel she may be floated on Monday's tide, which will be just about as high as the tide of Friday morning.

The cost of saving the ship will amount to thousands of dollars. One estimate is that it will cost half of what the ship is worth, which could be anywhere from $35,000 to $50,000 if the vessel were placed on the market. It is probable that if the tugs succeed in getting it off the beach they will demand a handsome sum. It is suggested that as the vessel is now in the press they may claim salvage if they free it, and that if the fee charged is not forthcoming they may libel it.

Even if the Carleton is pulled out of danger without any further damage, it will be necessary to place it in dry dock, as it is badly strained. By the time all the repairs incurred are paid the profit that would have been made on the Australian trip, for which she was to have loaded 1,500,000 feet of lumber at Bellingham, will be "eaten up."

RATES ARE LOW.

In the grain freight market of the Pacific coast there has been absolutely no chartering of vessels for European loading, and rates are nominal, probably quotable at about 15s. from here, and 20s. from the north. The season is now practically ended so far as shipments to Europe are concerned, and few vessels will be despatched until the new season is at hand. There is a noticeable lack of chartering for new crop loading. Practically the only new business in grain freights is the engagement of several steamers to load for the Orient, some here and some in the north.
Mail advices from Australia state that chartering for grain loading is very active and will probably continue so until the yield is assured. Most of the vessels offering are under the French flag and their owners are willing to accept lower rates than the owners of British vessels. The coal trade is depressed, with much idle time at the collieries, but as the numbers of several steamers to load for the Orient in order to bring about a lower selling price, it is difficult to attract trade.
The Premier has flatly refused the request of the miners for a nationalization of all the coal mines.

SAILING SHIPS.

British ship Pottoloch, which has been loading at Chemalms, is ready, and will proceed to sea in a few days. The Lorne will today tow the British ship Falkland bank to sea from Vancouver. The American schooner Alpena, Capt. S. G. Birk-holm, sailed Friday night for Ketchikan, China, going out in tow of the tug Richard Holyoke. She came to Port Townsend Wednesday night from Mukilteo to secure a crew. She has cargo of about 1,200,000 feet of lumber loaded from the Mukilteo mill. The American schooner Forester went to sea yesterday afternoon from Port Blakely, in tow of the tug Wyand, with a cargo of 900,000 feet of lumber loaded from the Port Blakely Mill Company. She is bound for San Francisco. The schooner Gadagor, Capt. W. McAlpine, has completed her lumber cargo at Port Gamble for San Francisco, and towed to sea yesterday afternoon. She carries a cargo of about 725,000 feet.

BIG DEAL ON.

Negotiations which it is expected will be completed during the week are now under way whereby the Northwest Commercial Company will come into possession of the steamers owned and operated by the Alaska Pacific Navigation Company. The deal, which has been under way for a number of months, is reported by good authority to be practically completed. Acting for the Northwest Commercial Company, John Rosene has submitted an offer to Capt. E. E. Cline, of the Alaska Pacific Navigation Company, of a sum stated to be $500,000 for five of the vessels now operated by the latter company between Seattle and Valdez. Mr. Rosene recently returned from San Francisco, and while there he made the statement that the proposed deal would be consummated within a short time after his return to Seattle.
The boats which will change hands as the result of the deal are the Santa Clara, Jeanie, Dora, Santa Ana and Excelsior.

MARINE NOTES.

Steamer Indravelli, which ran between Portland and the Orient and called here at times, was recently on fire at Hongkong. She is now running between that port and New York.

Monkey Brand Soap was copper like gold, tin like silver, crockery like marble,
